Special Recognition and Achievements

CLS Program Outstanding Student

In 2020, the senior class and faculty voted Jessica Pham Phung as the *Outstanding*Student for the CLS Program. Jessica came to the United States from Vietnam to pursue her college degree. Her initial goal was to pursue a business degree and follow in her father's footsteps, but she soon realized her passion for science after taking Biology and Microbiology courses at Austin Community College (ACC). She learned about our program and transferred from ACC. Since her acceptance into the program, Jessica has worked hard to maintain her GPA as well as remaining active in CLS volunteer activities. She is currently Secretary for the Society of Clinical Laboratory Science, and in the Spring and Fall of 2019 she became the first two-time awardee of the Cardinal Health Scholarship.

ASCLS Scholarships

Doryan Redding received the ASCLS Legislative Travel Grant for 2020.

Texas State University

Teagan Settle, a CLS junior, received a Presidential Upper Level Scholarship this year. This is a very prestigious scholarship with each of the eight Texas State University Colleges allowed to only submit one student to receive this award.

Doryan Redding was the 2020 Recipient of the Medal of Hope from the Texas State University Leadership Institute. Teagan Settle, Anahie Segura, Fatimah Jan, and Sumayya Lnu also attended this Institute in the Spring of 2020.

Special Recognition and Achievements - Cont'd

College of Health Professions

At the 24th Annual Faculty/Student Research Forum in the Educational Literature Review category, Ryan Reyes and Chad Roberts received the 2nd place award for a review of "Qualitative Assays for Identifying Extracellular Vesicles Containing miRNA" and Dawniel Pool, Jill Green, and Tilly Marks finished in 3rd place for their review of "Evaluation of the Reverse Transcription Strand Invasion Based Amplification (RT-SIBA) RSV Assay, a Rapid Molecular Assay for the Detection of RSV".

In the Fall of 2019, Ryan Reyes, and Jessica Pham, and Juan Frejil-Hernandez were awarded Cardinal Health Clinical Laboratory Science Scholarships Honoring Dr. Rodney E. Rohde and Jennifer Dawson. In the Spring 2020, five CLS students received a Cardinal scholarship: Ismael Hinojosa, Sumayya Lnu, Thuan "Bella" Nguyen, Anahie Segura, and Teagan Settle.

Ahmed Alsaedi and Jessica Pham served as the CLS representatives on the Council of Student Leadership.
