

Nicole Moss Bio

Nicole Moss is a startup lawyer with a corporate and securities background. She advises early stage companies on business, corporate and organizational development. As a lawyer, mentor, advisor, speaker and entrepreneur, she helps companies grow from formation through capital raises and go-to-market stages to ultimate liquidity events.

Nicole serves as General Counsel for several early stage/growth stage companies, as well as outside counsel/mentor/advisor for several additional early stage startups and seed/venture funds. She previously worked in private practice and served as General Counsel for Kenmont Capital, a Houston-based private equity fund platform. Before that Nicole was an associate in the Boston office of Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP, where she advised private equity and venture capital funds on fund formation and mergers and acquisitions. Prior to that, she worked at a startup incubator in Cambridge, Massachusetts in the talent acquisition group and ran a small company that provided non-core services to startups. Nicole is licensed to practice in Texas and Massachusetts. She is a regular guest lecturer on corporate law for entrepreneurs at the University of Houston Wolff Center for Entrepreneurship.
